GREAT BUSINESS SEASON AHEAD

Lumbermen See Remarkable Future for American Foreign Commerce—Must Develop Markets.

Chicago, July 19.—First hand information concerning conditions in the lumber manufacturing industry of the United States was presented to the members of the federal trade commission which opened a two days' hearing here today.

Sawmill owners, wholesale dealers, timber land owners and representatives of the lumber associations supplied the commissioners with data on conditions. Robert H. Downman of New Orleans, president of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, was prepared to give a general outline of the industry. Men identified with the lumber interests throughout the country were present.

Nation-Wide Hearings. The hearings are a part of a nationwide series arranged toward developing America's foreign commerce. On Wednesday the commission will hold a session in Detroit. Thursday in Cincinnati and on Friday in Indianapolis, returning to Chicago on Monday to resume its inquiry.

Later sessions will be held in many of the large cities west to the Pacific coast.

Great Opportunity Ahead. In outlining the purposes of the hearing Edward N. Hurley of Chicago, vice chairman of the commission, said:

"In the judgment of the best business brains of this country there never has been so favorable an opportunity for American commerce to seek and find foreign markets for its products as at this juncture.

"With the prospect in view of getting the facts regarding our foreign trade possibilities, the commission has entered upon this investigation. The market is there and we must develop there."

Paris, July 19, 6:50 a. m.—A telegram from a Rome news agency says that a refugee who has reached Rome from Pola, the Austrian naval base, says two Austrian submarines which left to reconnoiter the Italian coast have not returned and are believed to have been lost. New White Washable Buttons Used Extensively—Colored Buttons Effective—Newest Modes in Brief—Several Ways to Make Butters for Sandwiches—Olive Butter and Sardine Butter Delicious—Household Information.

WHITE WASHABLE BUTTONS.

To comply with the increasing call for buttons, a welcome new specialty has been devised for the trimming of washing dresses, blouses, etc. For the present these new buttons are only made in white of a gumlike texture recalling crochet work, which they supersede by the mere fact of having a mold round or oval made of a patented composition warranted to be waterproof. The tiny ball shape appears to be the favorite. It is lavished on every accessory of dress, whether placed in separate sets or vertical rows, in circles or in clumps. As an example, a daisy fringe of these wee berries tremble along the edge of the wide brim of a child's shady hat, whilst a boss of hem fills the hearts of a few blossoms softly nestled amidst tulle draperies round the low crown. No great effort of imagination is needed to employ these new buttons effectively, no specially deft fingers are required to arrange them in pretty ways. The makers of these white washable buttons will at least have no cause of complaining of the success of their invention—colored buttons are now clamored for.

HOUSEHOLD INFORMATION.

Wrap the clothesline around a washboard and thoroughly scrub in soapuds.

To make pulled bread, pull pieces of crumb out of a freshly baked loaf, then bake these pieces in a quick oven till brown.

To make a filling for hickory nut cake whip cream very stiff, sweeten and flavor to taste and add nuts cut rather fine.

Olives and shrimps chopped together make an excellent salad, with the addition of mayonnaise.

A girl with clever fingers can make good little shirtwaist bows out of her brother's cast-off ties.

A stub pen can be used in an emergency for tightening the tiny screws in a pair of eye-glasses.

A red brick kitchen floor will keep beautifully clean and red if a drop of paraffin oil be used in the water it is washed with.

MODES IN BRIEF.

Black-and-white taffeta in broad stripes makes a most effective trimming for the coat of tan cloth.

The newest collars might well be called capes, so very wide are they. The hand-embroidered organdie waist is one of the greatest favorites this summer.

Gray footgear is considered quite the most fashionable of all the various colors and color combinations.

SANDWICH BUTTERS.

Maitre d'hotel butter is no more than flavored butter, and everybody knows how useful it is for flavoring broiled dish and steak and sometimes vegetables. The proportions for this are a quarter of a cupful of butter, half a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful each of chopped parsley and lemon juice and a little pepper. Blend thoroughly and keep on ice until needed. The heat of the food to which it is added melts this butter.

Sardine butter is delicious for sandwiches. To make it rub skinned and boned sardines to a paste and then gradually blend with a little lemon juice, with fresh butter. For all these seasoned butters, of course, butter of the best quality should be used.

Onion butter is another good sandwich butter, to be used with meat sandwiches. To prepare it, simply cream good butter and work in onion juice until the desired flavor is obtained. Usually salted butter is best for the purposes of flavored butter, as the salt helps to bring out the other flavors.

Olives can be ground in a vegetable chopper and then mashed to a paste and then creamed into butter. Capers can be chopped and creamed with butter, and either of these can be used on broiled chops or beefsteaks, as sandwich butters, or on green peas or string beans to vary their flavor.

Orange and lemon juice may be added to butter to give it very desirable sandwich flavors. Either of these butters is good for mayonnaise and lettuce sandwiches. And orange butter is delicious for afternoon tea sandwiches, filled with chopped nuts and figs or any other sweet filling. The grated orange rind, too, may be added to the butter to intensify the flavor.

SUPREME EFFORT BY THE GERMANS

English Writer Sees a Crisis in Which Russia Is in Danger.

By JAMES L. GARVIN. Editor of the Pall Mall Gazette.

London, July 18.—Germany's plans in their full extent are now displayed with more clearness than at any previous moment. The chief enemy is opening at last his grand attempt, not merely to sweep across the whole theater of eastern Europe, but to envelop and destroy the main part of the czar's armies so as to open the path to Turkey and Asia. This and this alone is to be the main feat of his war. The next few months, even in the next few weeks, will possibly be remembered as the most important phase of this Armageddon.

The measure of the allies' success at the end, and above all, of the subsequent position which this empire is to hold in the world, will be determined absolutely by the measure of Britain's organizing exertions, both with regard to material and men between now and the end of autumn.

No Third Chance.

We have a second chance and a good one; we will never have a third. That is now gravely understood by every minister in the cabinet whose members will put away squabbling, hesitation and red tape to get forward unmistakably with the job whereon depends all.

Germany's hopes for a successful issue—let us frankly recognize they are high—are entirely staked upon the events of the next three months. She knows that if she fails in that period to force a grand decision against Russia and the Balkans she must begin to admit even to herself, long and desperately as she would in any case struggle for terms, that she has no chance of ultimate victory.

Germany's Supreme Effort.

That chance, as Berlin believes, being still there, Germany is now opening her supreme effort. We have long said that Germany's supreme effort, when it came would stagger imagination. Russia's task is one of gigantic difficulty and we shall see how the grand duke, his masterly lieutenants and the aroused Russian nation are likely to cope with it. They know

SCIENTIFIC NOTES.

LET THEM HUNT FOR IT

A minister in a local church, known for his absent-mindedness by the members of his own family, but not to his congregation, saved himself from complete exposure at a recent service by his quick wit.

He had studied his sermon carefully, but had neglected to make any notations of the number of the chapter and verse from which the text was taken. In the pulpit he announced the text and then stopped short while the congregation waited to hear from what place in the Bible it was taken.

As he noticed absence of notes to this fact, he quickly announced: "I'm going to give you a week to find from what chapter and verse this phrase was taken." So was exposure averted.—Columbia body. Measurements of the body Dispatch.
